Healing Colors DVD...Can it be the Solution to Electromagnetic Pollution?

There is a new player on the alternative medicine playing field, and if customer reactions are any indication, Alternative Two will soon be a major contender. Alternative Two has devised a way to protect the human bio-field from electromagnetic pollution through its color therapy video – Healing Colors DVD.

If you're like the typical person living in modern society, there is not a time during your typical day when you are not exposed to electromagnetic fields (EMF). Scientists estimate that your daily exposure to EMF radiation is 100 million times higher than it was in your grandparents' time. What consequence does this type of invisible presence have on your ability to function? Research shows that these fields have a significant disruptive effect on your natural energy levels. They magnify your body's "flight or fight" responses and significantly reduce your ability to cope effectively. Long-term exposure to EMF has been linked to heart disease, cancer, brain tumors and other diseases. What can you do? There's just no escaping exposure, oftentimes at dangerous levels, to EMF.

Alternative Two claims that by watching Healing Colors DVD you can protect yourself from the detrimental effects of EMF. Each Healing Colors DVD contains harmonic energy frequencies. When the disc is played, these frequencies transfer from the TV screen to the viewer through the air and become embedded in the person's bio-field. In the Healing Colors DVD, Alternative Two has combined the principals of energy medicine with the ancient healing art of color therapy. Color therapy is used to introduce these frequencies to the body through the chakras – its energy centers.

According to the DVD creator, Dwight Vega, Healing Colors strengthens the human bio-field and alleviates the discord in one's body by reducing the effects of EMF. Customers that have watched Healing Colors DVD claim they felt stronger, more energetic, more balanced and less stressed.
